Director's Corner

Children from an early age often talk and hear about love but may be uncertain what it really means. Jesus is the ultimate example of Love. He gave his life for us. We know that, because of this, we should listen to his words and follow them. We want to share his love with others. All this month we will explore the meaning and different aspects of love. This month our bible verse will be (1 John 4:19) " We love because he first loved us". Preschoolers will attend two Chapel times this month where the focus will be on this bible verse and communicating with them how we can love each other.

Random Acts of Kindness week observed February 14-20, is an annual opportunity to unite through kindness and blends in well with our theme of love. Children's House will be participating in the week by showing other kindness throughout our school, families and communities. We will be reading the story Heartprints. Together we will learn that it is fun to help others and every time you show kindness, little "heartprints" are left behind! Classrooms will be creating special "heart print" doors with the help from their families. More information will be emailed home soon.

Classroom Valentine parties will be held on Friday the 12th at 3:00. Unfortunately, during this time we are not able to invite families to attend. The teachers are working to plan and provide a fun day for their classes. Classroom letters will be sent home soon with information on card exchanges and sign-up sheets.

Baby Bunnies

We celebrated the New Year with new milestones and new words. Drew loves helping her teachers and hanging out in the library area. Beckham loves giving high-fives and saying “uh-oh” and “bye-bye”. Katie started walking and saying “boo” and “bye-bye”. Owen loves crawling after the ball and is working on standing on his own. Luka loves scooting around the room and practicing to be an opera singer. Barrett loves smiling at his friends while watching them play. Stella loves sitting in the swing and watching her new friends. In February, we will learn about family, friends, and kindness.

This month our friend Georgia will promote to the Busy Bee room. Although we will miss our friend, we know she will have new and fun adventures. This month we welcome our friend Hazel to our center and classroom. We look forward to working with her and her family.

Welcome to February! With Valentine’s Day in the middle of the month, it’s a great time to work on our social-emotional skills (and by work, I mean have a lot of fun learning!) It’s so much fun to watch as toddlers learn to care about each other and play together. This month, we will talk about the color Red (and Pink) and focus on the heart shape.

Our themes for February:

Week One: Red and the Heart shape
Week Two: Valentine’s Day and Love

Week Four: Random Acts of Kindness

All month, as every month, we will catch our little ones being kind to each other, sharing and comforting one another, and taking turns.

Parenting Article

The CDC's Positive Parenting Tips - Preschoolers
In this article developmental milestones, positive parenting, and safety of preschoolers are addressed. Some parenting tips offered are:

1. Continue to read to your child. Nurture a love of reading.
2. Let your child help with small chores. (I let my daughter fold towels.)
3. Encourage your child to play with other children (obviously when COVID is gone).
4. Develop language skills by talking to them in complete sentences, using adult words.

How to Cope with Parenting Differences

Relationships sometimes fail over differences in parenting. In this Verywell Family article, ways to work together when your parenting differs are discussed. Some suggestions listed are:

1. Talk it out; share your parenting strategies with each other. Ideally, this is done before you have children.
2. Create rules together. You and your partner should agree on specific rules and write them down.
3. Agree on consequences. You might have to make compromises.
4. Back each other up. Stick to your plan and be consistent.
